

South Africa

Blue Green Safari

February 6 - 18, 2022

Blue Green Expeditions is headed to one of the most amazing journeys in the world - the Sardine Aggregation of South Africa! The sardine aggregation describes seasonal migration of sardines off the coast of South Africa and is part of the largest marine activity on the planet. The sheer volume of large marine mammals and sharks that follow the sardines can be a spectacular sight to see above and below the water. We will spend up to seven days looking for the aggregation and the telltale signs of them as they begin their journey along the coast of South Africa. Often what we see on the surface is just as amazing as what happens below. We can expect to see cape gannets, huge pods of dolphins, many different species of whales, sharks, sea lions, penguins and of course millions of sardines! We will determine if we dive or snorkel depending on the dynamics and behavior of the animals. We will also explore the colorful local reefs with at least two days of reef diving. On the reef dives, one can expect to see ragged tooth sharks, cat sharks, rays and seals. And what is a visit to South Africa without visiting a game reserve? Yeah, we are doing that!!! We will spend two days visiting Addo National Park and Kragga Kamma game park. Addo is known for its resident elephant population and a large number of other mammals. Kragga Kamma is a lush coastal forest and grassland with vast herds of African game such as Cheetah, Zebra, Giraffe, Rhinos and many other species. If you like big animals above and below the water this is one trip you do not want to miss!!!
