Fak-Fak to Triton:

Nearly two decades ago, an article penned by diving legends Burt Jones and Maureen Shimlock declared Triton Bay to be “The Last Best Place.” They were not exaggerating. This untouched destination boasts soft coral-covered rocks that nearly break the surface; huge schools of unafraid snapper, barracuda, and jacks; swirls of glassfish over dense forests of black coral; whale sharks circling bagans; 5 types of pygmy seahorses; nudibranchs of every shape, size, and color; and endemic species you will not encounter anywhere else. It is, quite simply, spectacular. Combined with the brand-new destination of Fak-Fak (which the Pindito’s owner helped to explore), this trip will satisfy any diver who is an explorer at heart.

We’ve crafted this itinerary to be combined with the renowned beauty of Raja Ampat, and let us assure you: there is no better way to experience the stunningly rich reefs of Indonesia. Join us as we board Pindito, a beautiful live aboard with luxury cabins and its own camera room. Pindito is the ideal platform from which to visit this out-of-the-way destination. This ship (and owner Edi Fromenweiler) are synonymous with remote and spectacular Indonesian diving – and that’s because they have more experience in this part of the world than anyone else.
